

Andi goes OZ

Back in Austria for a while now...

Back in Austria for a while now...

2008-02-11 00:02:45

Hey guys,

sorry for not blogging for ages! I am back in Austria (as you may have noticed because we haven't seen each other for one month plus ;)) and since one week now even back in my own apartment which is YAY! Downside is, that I am realizing now that I am really back with all the stuff that was not that important in the last 8 months - making money and planning your study for example.... speaking of my study - I am now a Bachelor of Science but this even adds a little bit to the strange feeling and stress (because I have to think of my Masters!). I reckon I am experiencing a nice (cultural) reverse shock as predicted by everyone. Good thing is I am not alone with it! So no worries :-)

The thing I am looking forward to the most right now is April, when we (that is my New Zealand crew and I) are having our reunion in London!!! I can't wait to see Lara and Barry, Kirk, Michael, Rachel (my love!! g), Ray (hopefully?) and Fred (yay!!) again. The BA-ticket is already sold and is hanging on my pin-board - thanks to Qantas Frequent Flyer points hehe

You won't believe me, but I have been meeting friends for the last two weeks EVERY DAY and didn't have time to take a look at the photos yet (or even unpack completely!) - I am speaking of my fantastic trip with Steffi to Perth and Darwin and the whole New Zealand bunch... but I am going to sort them out and publish them on my blog here this week - I promise!

Miss you all and take care,

Andi